

5

10

Abstract

Disclosed is a flue gas washer comprising a supporting construction for spray pipes used to clean at least one horizontally arranged droplet separator system. Each 15 droplet separator system comprises droplet separator packets which are mounted on carriers. The supporting construction for the spray pipes is arranged adjacent to or between the droplet separator packets. As a result, inspection and cleaning of the separator systems can be 20 improved significantly.

25

30